PETERSON SPEAKS

Former National President Tells Convention Day of Independent Grocer Is Near.

The 36th annual convention of the New York State Food Merchants Association opened this morning at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium using as its theme, "Trinity of Service, The manufacturer—wholesaler—retailer. Three units treated as one."

Clifford T. Bennett, president of the local U. P. A. and treasurer of the convention, introduced the Hon. Conrad J. Heiselman, mayor of the City of Kingston, who greeted the delegates in a most cordial manner and stated that "a delegate's badge in Kingston this week means you are a personal guest of the population of this city." Mayor Heiselman further said that, "I am at your service 24 hours a day, and I will not mind getting out of bed at three in the morning if I can be of service to you."

Kingston's executive paid tribute to the cooperative spirit and action of the food merchants group, and commented on that fact that he was confident that future records would be records of service and profit to the people of the State of New York. The Rev. E. L. White, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran Church, pronounced the invocation.

Raymond J. Tierney, vice-president of the state organization, accepted the best wishes of the mayor on behalf of the grocers, and suggested an appropriate change of name from Kingston to Kings Town, "because every man in the city seems to be a prince."

President speaks. William J. Durr, president of the New York State Food Merchants Association, was introduced by Peter Alnor. The president spoke briefly concerning several new innovations in the conduct of the convention, both in the nature of business and social functions—changes which he hoped would make the Kingston convention one of the most successful in the history of the organization and changes which would become permanent if proven successful.

President Durr then appointed John F. Murray, secretary of the association, as permanent chairman of the convention.

State Treasurer Clifford T. Bennett of Kingston, read a detailed report of the finances of the group, which showed a definite forward step over the progress of other years. A change in the program was necessitated by the absence of the president of the National Association of Retail Grocers who was supposed to have brought the greetings of the national group. Chairman Murray introduced Conrad W. Frey who gave a detailed and interesting report of the national convention held at Boston recently. This report was originally scheduled for Tuesday morning but was moved up by the chairman.

Condemn Premiums. The highlights of Mr. Frey's report was the information concerning several resolutions passed by the national association regarding the practices of the grocery business. One of these resolutions condemned the one-cent sale and the giving of premiums as a means of attracting trade and increasing the business of any one store. Another dealt with the ideal of a merchant being able to realize a fair profit on all of his merchandise. The report also contained mention of the promotion of "Grocer's Week," the splendid reports of the national officers which showed the gains made through the organization of the independent grocers, and the rise of ladies auxiliaries which were becoming a power for good in the organization movement.

The next speaker was the transportation manager of the organization, Frank J. Meyer, who told of the plans being made for 1,000 New York delegates to attend the national convention at Cincinnati next year, explaining that it was up to every member of the organization to get at least two others to attend this convention.

Former National President Peterson was called to the stage to address the convention. He stressed the fact that a brighter day was coming for the independent grocer, but it would be necessary to have some real work done in order to bring about this day. He closed his remarks by showing how the theme, "Trinity of Service," was the future safeguard of the independent grocer.

The Apple Institute. Henry S. Ortega, manager of the New York and New England Apple Institute, addressed the session on the need of cooperation.

5 Seriously Hurt In Accident Near Wallkill Saturday

A Chevrolet coach was crushed to bits and destroyed by fire Saturday evening on the North Plank road between Newburgh and Wallkill when it was in a collision with the trailer of a seven-ton truck headed towards Wallkill with a load of logs. The driver of the truck, George Perry of Hillburn, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving by Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andy Klein, and was brought before Justice Seth C. Lippincott of Wallkill who fined him $50 and sentenced him to 10 days in the Ulster county jail.

The five occupants of the Chevrolet were all seriously injured. George Day, 47, of 34 Johnson street, Newburgh, owner and driver of the car, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital at Newburgh along with his son John Day, age 9, where they were treated for internal injuries. Mrs. George Day and a friend, William Samner, were treated by a Wallkill doctor at the scene of the accident while another young lad, Harold Day, age 4, was admitted to the Cornwall Hospital with a broken arm, broken leg, and two broken ribs.

Truck Traveling Fast.

In his report of the accident, Trooper Klein stated that it occurred about 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening about one mile from Wallkill when a seven-ton tractor-trailer truck, loaded with 65 foot logs, driven by George Perry of Hillburn, and traveling at an excessive rate of speed down a hill towards Wallkill demolished the Chevrolet coach of George Day and severely injured the occupants.

The rear of the trailer of the truck swerved over onto the left side of the road and side-swiped the car, while the logs scattered in all directions, completely blocking the road for a period of two hours, the report said.

The truck was owned by Henry W. LaBelle of Nanuet, and was hauling logs from Kerbskous to Haverstraw. According to the driver, George Perry, of 41 Boulevard, Hillburn, he had taken the wrong road out of Wallkill and was returning to that village so that he might take another route to avoid some steep hills.

After arresting Perry on a charge of reckless driving, the troopers discovered that he had been arrested at Tuxedo on a similar charge on July 17, this being his second offense.

The day automobile was completely demolished and was totally destroyed by fire, and witnesses stated that the occupants were extremely lucky to have escaped death.

Senate-Approved Wage, Hour Bill To Be Delayed in House Until Next Week

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The house, despite the rush to clean up the administration program and adjourn, probably will delay debating the senate-approved wage and hour bill until next week.

Its labor committee virtually has completed a new draft much broader than the senate measure, but it will meet again tomorrow for further consideration.

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) said the bill would be reported to the house no later than Wednesday. Leaders have arranged, however, to take up legislation for sugar production control on the labor standards bill.

The house will permit a standards bill to fix minimum wages as high as 70 cents an hour and a work week as low as 35 hours.

This contrasts with the limitations of 40 cents and 40 hours in the bill which won senate approval Saturday by a vote of 56 to 28.

Japanese Now in Control

Peiping, Aug. 2 (AP)—Japanese now completely in control of China's ancient dragon capital, closed the gates of Peking today, virtually imprisoning Americans and other foreigners within the walls as squaddies of Japanese war planes blasted a path for a thrust deep into China.

Japanese authorities said their planes had been bombing Chinese army concentrations at Paoingfu, capital of Hopei Province, 85 miles to the southwest, for the last 24 hours. Japanese scouting planes were ranging as far south as Tsinan some 175 miles from Tientsin.

Japanese erected heavy fortifications at both the east and south gates of Peiping. A United States army officer and missionary were halted at the east gate and refused permission to set out on a mission of mercy to Tungchow.

They wanted to investigate damage done to the American Missionary School at the capital of the East Hopei Autonomous Region. Tungchow was severely bombed last Friday in an effort to quell an uprising of militarized Chinese police.

The Japanese army, heavily reinforced, was penetrating rapidly to the south along the strategic railway to Hankow, which has been the main artery of the reported advance of 5,000 Central Government troops commanded by Gen. Chen Cheng.

Moving Reinforcements. Reinforcements for the 25,000 Japanese troops were being poured into North China both through the great wall passes to the north and by rail from Shanhaiwan on the Manchoukuoan border to the east.

Water Very Muddy.

According to the officers who arrived later the water was so muddy that it was impossible to see into it any distance and attempts made by others in swimming were unavailing. The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Fredenburg and Reynolds responded and not long after their arrival Deputy Reynolds recovered the body with the use of grappling irons.

Coroner Leston D. Dubois of New Paltz officially pronounced Lazarus dead about 7 o'clock, certifying to death from accidental drowning. The coroner took charge of the body, which it is understood was to be turned over to a New York undertaker.

POLICE PREDICT EARLY SOLUTION OF SEX-MURDER

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Brooklyn police, their sole admitted clue a sharply defined fingerprint on a goldfish bowl, today predicted the early arrest of the maniacal stranger of 8-year-old Paula Magnan.

The Goldfish bowl was found in a baby carriage across which the striped body of the girl was tossed after she had been garroted by a clothesline, then ravished.

Police expressed belief her slayer used the bowl to entice the child into the basement of her tenement house, where the attack occurred Saturday morning. Detectives said the sunsuit worn by Paula apparently had been taken by her killer.

A hundred suspects, including known degenerates, rounded up shortly after discovery of the body, were released, but detectives said two were still under suspicion although there was not sufficient evidence to hold them.

JUDICIAL REFORM URGED BY SENATORS

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Senate judiciary committee recommended today a study of judicial reform during the forthcoming recess of Congress.

The committee made known its action only a short time after word came from the White House that Attorney-General Cummings believed the current vacancy on the Supreme Court could be filled at any time, whether Congress was in session or not.

President Roosevelt, having to appoint a successor to Justice Van Devanter, resigned, had asked Cummings for an informal opinion on the time the appointment should be made.

Life Preserver Slips Causing Accidental Drowning at Tillsen

Adolph Lazarus of Maspeth, L. I., Who Could Not Swim, Loses Life Preserver in Wallkill River and Drowns.

BODY RECOVERED

Failed to Con. to Surface After Jumping into River in Front of Family.

Sinking to the bottom of the Wallkill river, in 15 feet of water, when a ring life preserver upon which he was depending slipped from his body as he jumped into the water, Adolph Lazarus, 45, of 5832 74th street, Maspeth, L. I., drowned shortly before 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon while his wife and two children, with other relatives, watched in vain to see him reappear from the muddy depths.

It was nearly an hour later when deputies from the sheriff's office, using grappling irons, brought the body of the unfortunate man to the surface. Attempts were made to resuscitate him and men from the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. crew, under the direction of C. R. Smith, worked for two hours, but their labor was in vain.

Trucker's Helper.

Lazarus, who was a trucker's helper and who had recently had secured work after being unemployed for some time, had joined his wife and family at the summer colony along the Wallkill, on the Mud Hook road, near Tillsen, the scene of the drowning being about half a mile west of the new concrete bridge over the Wallkill.

It was shortly before 4 o'clock when Lazarus, accompanied by his wife, Caroline, their son, William, aged 15, and daughter, Evelyn, 9, went down to the river near their cottage for a swim. With them were his brother-in-law, Henry Huber, and the latter's wife and daughter, Maspeth Lazarus, who is said to have been unable to swim, put on a ring life preserver and jumped into the water, but evidently the ring, instead of catching under his arms as he had expected, slipped up over his body and he sank to the bottom in about 15 feet of water.

Rockefeller, Conway, Pine, Lasher for Republicans; Democrats Select Ticket

Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker, John J. Miller, Ray W. Garraghan and James M. Murphy Are Named by Democrats.

GARRAGHAN TALKS

Says Ulster County Has a Dictator Who Makes Roosevelt Look Like a Schoolboy.

In an otherwise peaceful convention, in which all wrinkles had been ironed out, an attack was made on President Roosevelt's Supreme Court packing plan, which had met defeat and the action taken by Democratic Congressmen in Washington in defeating this pet project of the President was highly commended by Ray W. Garraghan of Manorville, this city, in accepting the convention's nomination of himself as the Democratic candidate for county treasurer. The Democratic county convention was held in the municipal auditorium at the close of the Republican county convention on Saturday.

The ticket as selected by the Democrats follows:

Member of Congress—Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker of Woodstock.

Member of Assembly—John J. Miller of Lomontville.

County Treasurer—Ray W. Garraghan of this city.

Coroner—James M. Murphy of this city.

Delegate to Constitutional Convention—Willis G. Nash of town of Marlborough.

There were no contests, such as marked the Republican county convention, as the leaders of Ulster county Democracy had had a difficult time in obtaining candidates to fill out the ticket.

The name of Mr. Garraghan for county treasurer was placed before the convention by Attorney N. Jansen Fowler, son of former County Judge Joseph M. Fowler for years one of the leaders in the Republican party in Ulster county.

Mr. Fowler said that this was the first time he had ever appeared on a political platform, but he was "proud to announce himself as a Democrat under the leadership of such a man as Bud Culliton."

Attorney Fowler said that Bud Culliton was a man who placed the welfare of the city and county above partisan politics, and for that reason he was proud to enroll himself under the banner of such a leader.

"Not a Setup"

"Yes, I'm a candidate for county treasurer and I'm capable of handling the job," said Mr. Garraghan in accepting the nomination. "I'm not just on the ticket in order to fill it out, I'm not a setup and I am going to campaign the city and county from one end of it to the other. I accepted the nomination for several reasons. One of them is because Bud Culliton is a real chap."

"Plenty of Grumbling"

"There has been grumbling about the county," said Mr. Garraghan, "and many of you here today may have heard it about Bud Culliton's leadership, but how many of those who grumble have given Bud the cooperation he needed. When Bud was handed the chairmanship of the county committee he was handed a bag of hot coals, and they were hot. The organization was without funds and in a hard way with disunion in the ranks. Bud Culliton is a fighter and he has done the job and he has done a good job and if I hear any more

NINE KILLED IN MISHAP

TO ITALIAN AIRLINER.

Wadi Halfa, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, August 2 (AP)—Nine passengers and members of the crew of an Italian commercial plane were killed today when the plane crashed near the Wadi Halfa air-drome.

The craft was southbound when the accident occurred. All aboard were killed.

The crew of five and the four passengers were believed all to be Italians.

Rockefeller Accepts

Mr. Rockefeller, who was present at the convention, was introduced and spoke briefly. He paid a tribute to the type of leadership with which Ulster county had become blessed since Mr. Elting had become county chairman, and said that his pleasure in accepting the office was overshadowed by sadness in the thoughts of the death of Congressman Goodwin, who had made such a splendid record while in Washington.

Conway Nominated

Fred Stang, clerk of the board of supervisors, placed the name of Assemblyman J. Edward Conway in nomination to succeed himself, as member of Assembly. Mr. Conway was the unanimous choice of the convention, and spoke briefly in accepting the honor.

Cleared for Fight.

The stage was then cleared for the fight for the nomination for county treasurer. This opening gun was fired by Attorney Robert G. Groves of this city, who nominated former Supervisor Chester A. Lyons of the town of Olive. He said that Mr. Lyons had been born on a farm at Krumville, and later had opened a general store in Krumville. He called attention to the fine record that Mr. Lyons had made while serving the town of Olive as its supervisor. He was the first Republican to be elected to that office in that town in a number of years, and was amply qualified to fill the position of county treasurer.

Pine Is Named.

Benjamin Matteson, director of training at the New Paltz Normal School, nominated Mr. Pine of New Paltz, and called attention to the fact that Mr. Pine was also born on a farm, and since then had become a successful business

City Conventions Of Major Parties Scheduled Tonight

This evening at the court house on Wall street the Republican city convention and the Democratic city convention will meet to select the city tickets for the fall campaign. The Republicans are expected to renominate Mayor C. J. Heiselman and Alderman-at-large John J. Schenk, and nominate Matthew N. Cadell for city judge.

The city Democratic ticket is still in doubt, although those who claim to be well informed say that former Mayor Eugene B. Carey will be the Democratic standard bearer in the city, while others, who also claim to know what they are talking about, say that either E. Frank Flanagan or Attorney Chris J. Flanagan will be selected. For Alderman-at-large the man most prominently mentioned is former Alderman Sam N. Mann.

William F. Kauter, a well known attorney and member of the firm of Flanagan & Kauter, is said to be the Democratic choice for city judge.

Both conventions are slated to convene at 8 o'clock tonight.

man in the town. He urged the delegates to consider Mr. Pine's qualifications for the office he sought.

Have Names McEntee.

Assistant District Attorney N. LeVan Haver of this city nominated Mr. McEntee. He said that he had had a talk with Chairman Elting before the convention convened and Mr. Elting had assured him that the naming of a candidate for county treasurer was to be an "open fight and a fair fight" and that the organization was keeping its hands off.

That the organization was keeping its hands off was shown by the spirited fight put up by the three candidates for the office.

The first roll call resulted in 258 votes being cast. The number necessary for election was 129, and Mr. Lyons received 107 votes, Mr. Pine, 122 votes, and Mr. McEntee, 32 votes.

On the second and concluding roll call Mr. Pine received 132 votes, Mr. Lyons 122 votes and Mr. McEntee 4 votes.

The nomination of Mr. Pine was then made unanimous on motion of Mr. Groves and Mr. Lyons.

Fight for Coroner

Henry Lamourie, of Saugerties, placed the name of Mr. Lasher in the field for the office of coroner, while Charles Kalver nominated Mr. Connor.

But one roll call was necessary for the convention choice, Mr. Lasher receiving 147 votes and Mr. Connor 86 votes.

The convention then adjourned and all delegates were given dinner tickets to eat at the various hotels and restaurants.

While the convention was winding up its business the rear of the Auditorium began to fill with the delegates to the Democratic county convention which was held at the close of the Republican convention.

Stirring Address

Assemblyman Heck spoke as follows:

The question often has been asked within the last year as to the purpose and function of the Republican Party during the present unsettled condition of the nation. Everywhere indeed it appears that the party is in the minority. This is not the case, however, in the National Congress and in most of the various states and the greatest army of federal and state political employees in the history of the nation and the unprecedented resources of billions of dollars appropriated for a so-called readjustment of our economic system. Confronted by these overwhelming odds it is but natural that many Republicans are developing within themselves a feeling of political pessimism.

And yet, the political life of a nation, just as its economic life, invariably moves in cycles and there is ample precedent for the statement that a party overwhelmingly in power invariably seals its own doom. No party so entrenched has gone on forever. The Democratic Party, under the leadership of the President, is well on its way to the inevitable result. It is impossible for a party to survive the imposition of excessive taxation on the people. It is possible for a party to withstand criticism for the loading of the public payroll. It is possible for a party to overcome the damnation that inevitably occurs when civil service is flouted or when huge sums are appropriated ostensibly for public purposes, and insidiously for the development of a gigantic political machine. Our American people are indeed a patient people. To those developments and to those temporary and transient, perhaps the natural products of a political system such as our own.

But once let the fundamental structure of our government be subjected to attack directly or indirectly or permit the inviolability of our courts to be imposed upon and the American people, irrespective of party, are bound to resist. We have just had an example of what happens in this country of ours when a mighty executive, believing that he could continue to ride roughshod over the legislative department of our government, sought to subjugate also the third or judicial branch.

The Supreme Court

On February 6, the President of the United States presented to Congress his plan for the revision of the Supreme Court, ostensibly as he phrases it, to keep "the social viewpoints of the courts abreast of changing conditions," but actually to keep the social viewpoints of the courts abreast of his own individual opinion. In our generation there is ample precedent for such action. The executives in various countries in Europe have attempted it and most of them successfully. In the book of Dr. Frederick L. Schuman, assistant professor of political science at the University of Chicago, entitled "The Nazi Dictatorship" published in 1935, a successful attack upon the German courts is considered on page 300 as follows:

"In spite of the general disposition of German courts to serve the political purpose of the dictatorship, there was increasing dissatisfaction among party leaders with the administration of justice. Vestiges of impartiality apparently remained. The decision of the supreme court in the Reichstag fire trial was denounced in the Nazi press as a gross miscarriage of justice. Since all of the defendants were Communists, they should obviously have been hounded on general principles. Even more serious was the action of the court on March 2, 1934. For technical reasons it overruled the death sentence passed by a criminal court in Dessau on the ten Communists who had witnessed the murder of a Storm Trooper.

"Disgust at such evidences of liberalism prompted the creation on April 24 of a new People's court to deal with treason cases. Under the new law the tribunal of five members, not bound by legal technicalities, would be appointed by the Chancellor."

The spirit of the new jurisprudence, as created by Chancellor Hitler, was adequately stated by General Goering in an address on July 12, 1934, before the prosecutors of Prussia, in which he spoke, among other things, as follows: "I have clearly said to you that the rule of the law must be assured. There can be only one concept of the law, namely, the one laid down by Der Fuehrer. The law and the will of Der Fuehrer are one."

A Subtle Move.

Under our form of government statements of such a nature would, of course, be considered highly out of place, especially if voiced with such firm and implicit directness. In this country no one would presume to say in so many words that the law and the will of the President are one. To effect the same result a lighter and more subtle method must be employed and that method was employed in a letter dated July 15, 1937, to Senator Barkley of Kentucky, where the President insisted upon the passage of a bill which would permit him to control the courts and consequently the court's opinions. In that letter the "constituted improvements in the process of justice in all federal courts" were labeled as "obstacles" and it was pointed out to the elected representatives of a free people that it was their responsibility to adopt the methods to bring about the recommended objectives of the executive. An illuminating sentence, as well for this high-handed procedure, was added as follows: "This is in accordance with the Constitution."

Of course, the Constitution in itself permits the President to make recommendations, but it does not permit the executive, directly or indirectly, by the proffering of subsidies or direct representation, by implied or direct representation, that all opposition or the part of legislators would be dealt with severely in the future, to persuade, coax, cajole, threaten or bludgeon the representatives of a free people to enact into law the objectives of any executive. In the first place the objectives of an executive may be morally wrong or unjust or unsound and in the second place, in our country it is not incumbent on the free and elected representatives of the people to accept them. The representatives of the people assembled in Congress have the right as far as recommendations of the executive are concerned, to accept, to amend or to reject. Had the President's objectives been favorably passed upon by the Federal Congress it would indeed have subjugated the courts to the will of Congress and the President and in the words of the Senate Judiciary Committee "thereby destroyed the independence of the judiciary, the only certain shield of individual rights."

Alms Were Dangerous

The objectives themselves of the President were, in their larger phases, unsound and dangerous. Not only that, but the method by which he sought to attain those objectives, was reprehensible, and the means adopted to attain those objectives, were equally reprehensible. Congress to accept the method were absolutely alien to American tradition. However, and he said to the everlasting credit of the United States Senate, the senators of the people, irrespective of political lines, reasserted their independence as a separate and distinct part of our government and reestablished once, and we fervently hope for all time, the inviolability of the judicial department as a branch, free and untrammelled, of our governmental structure.

It has been truly said that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Although the court plan in itself has been defeated it is imperative that all pieces of legislation recommended by any powerful executive be studiously scanned, particularly the pending executive reorganization bill which centralizes in the hands of the President more power than is wielded by the head of any state in any country of the world with the exception of the Fascist and Communist nations. It is indeed natural for all executives to grasp for power, and it is equally natural for those who feel that they have been especially ordained and inspired to remake, reform and recreate the traditions and customs of a people.

It appears to me to be appropriate at this time to quote from an address delivered by Abraham Lincoln at the Springfield Lyceum January 27, 1837, one hundred years before the introduction of the Supreme Court bill in our national Congress. This address was brought to my attention by one of my colleagues at Albany, Assemblyman Dutton S. Peterson. With an uneasy insight toward the future, the Great Emancipator intoned the following warning to his fellow men:

Lincoln's Warning

"There is even now something of ill omen among us. I mean the increasing disregard for law which pervades the country; the growing disposition to substitute the wild and furious passions, in lieu of the sober judges of the court, and the worse than savage mobs for the executive ministers of justice. This disposition is awfully fearful in our community, and that it now exists in ours, though grating to our feelings to admit it would be a violation of truth and an insult to our intelligence to deny."

"Many great and good men, sufficiently qualified for any task they should undertake, may yet be found, whose ambition would aspire to nothing beyond a seat in Congress, a gubernatorial or a presidential chair. But such belong not to the family of the lion or the brood of the eagle. What? Think you these places would satisfy an Alexander, a Caesar, or a Napoleon? Never! Towering genius disdains a beaten path. It seeks regions hitherto unexplored. It sees no distinction in adding story to story upon the monuments of time erected to the memory of others. It denies that it is glory enough to serve under a chief. It seems to tread in the footsteps of any predecessor, however illustrious. It thirsts and burns for distinction, and, if possible, it will have it, whether at the expense of emancipating slaves, or enslaving free men. Is it unreasonable, then, to expect that some man, possessed of the loftiest genius, coupled with ambition sufficient to push it to its utmost stretch, will at some time spring up among us? And when such a one does, it will require the people to be united with each other, attached to the government and laws, and generally intelligent, to successfully frustrate his design."

Those are the premises upon which fundamentally, in view of present day tendencies, the Republican Party of the state and the nation must stand. It appears to me that in the light of these tendencies the near future will not see, as it has in the past, a battle between two great political parties. Rather will it be a struggle of the people of all parties alike against one man, his satellites, his sycophants and the leeches upon our party politics. In that struggle we, as Republicans, must fight with the people against the man.

Tribute to Ulster

To you fellow Republicans in Ulster county, I express my deep appreciation in being here today to address this meeting. Republican officials in Ulster county are known throughout the state, not only by the members of our party, but by all people who believe in and support good government. It is well known that Ulster county is one of the few counties in the state that has no county debt. I am advised that in 1904, prior to its public control in this county, the county debt amounted to more than one million dollars. Since that time, under the leadership and guidance of your county chairman, Philip Elting, your county has been not only on a pay-as-you-go basis, which is the proper system for all governmental units to pursue, but in addition thereto it has been able to discharge the debt which burdened the people of the county at the time when Mr. Elting took command of the Republican organization. I hold up as an example to the people of the State of New York the principles of your county chairman Mr. Elting. He has always been a leader for good, economical and honest government and has always made policies subservient to those principles. If his principles were generally prevalent throughout the State of New York at the present time there would be no worries about any local budgets. I sincerely hope that for many years to come the County of Ulster will be guided by Mr. Elting so that citizens of other counties throughout the state may continue to look upon him as an example worthy of imitation.

All the men and women who have held office with this great leader of yours have demonstrated the same fidelity on behalf of good government. If they acted otherwise they have not received his support. Ed Conway, your Assemblyman, has been one of the outstanding members of the lower house of the state legislature during the years that he has been there and in recognition of that fact was a distinct pleasure for me at the close of the session to appoint him as a member of the New York State Commission for the Administration of Justice. I know that the future holds great promise for him in Albany. I know it will be with pride that you and the county committee will work and campaign for the reelection of Mr. Conway to the state assembly.

Honor to Wicks.

Your fellow townsman and my colleague in the state legislature, Senator Arthur H. Wicks, another disciple of the Elting regime, is held in the highest esteem by both senators and assemblymen alike. His knowledge of state government, his interest and industry on behalf of his constituents, have often called forth commendation from not only the minority members of the Senate but also the majority, and from both sides of the aisle in the state Assembly.

Praises Rockefeller.

And speaking of conscientious representation, I cannot fail to improve upon the importance of sending to Washington as your next congressman, the Hon. Lewis K. Rockefeller, who has been recently designated by your congressional committee. He has served the state of New York faithfully and conscientiously. He has served the Republican party most efficiently. He is, at the present time, the county chairman of Columbia county and has demonstrated his value to that community. His career in Washington will be one of which he may be proud and you may rest assured that he will follow out the great American principles of this country. He will never be found supporting any bills to pack the supreme court of this country or attack the fundamentals of our constitution of this country. He is an American.

It is fundamental for the success of any organization that its candidates be supported at the polls. It is doubly important that in these times of great crises that Republican candidates be generally supported at all elections. I wish at this time success at the election booths this coming November for each and every candidate on your ticket. Let Ulster again roll up its usual Republican majority.

rumbling about Bud someone is going to have a fight on his hands."

Says Ulster Has Dictator

Mr. Garrahan said there had been considerable talk of late about President Roosevelt wanting to be a dictator, but those he was addressing should not forget "that Ulster county has a dictator who makes Roosevelt look like a schoolboy."

"I have favored all of the social legislation advocated by President Roosevelt," said Mr. Garrahan "but I, like many of you Democrats here today and others in Ulster county, did not agree with President Roosevelt on his plan to pack the supreme court, and Ulster county Democrats owe a vote of gratitude to the Democratic senators in Washington who helped defeat this piece of legislation and who had the guts and the foresight to kill this issue that would have ruined our country."

Culliton Presided.

The convention opened with Judge Culliton presiding and following the roll call of delegates, resolutions were read praising the Roosevelt administration and also commending the Lehman administration in this state, which were unanimously adopted. The convention also adopted resolutions in commendation of Judge John T. Loughran and Judge Harry E. Schirick, and extending them good wishes and the hope for continued success, which were also adopted.

Resolutions in memory of the late Senator Joseph Robinson, and also one in memory of John T. V. Klock, LeRoy Davis and John J. Feeney, prominent Democrats who have died since the last county convention, were unanimously adopted.

DuBois' Resolution.

Delegate Herman I. DuBois of this city was extended the privilege of the floor and said his resolution had been called to the fact that the local WPA had recently laid off some 170 men, and that it was claimed that about 150 of the men were "aliens" but that these men claimed they were not aliens and had their citizenship papers to prove it. Mr. DuBois said he would like the convention to adopt a resolution addressed to the WPA demanding that the WPA apologize to the citizens who had been laid off WPA payrolls and restate them with full compensation.

"An alien should not be given a job on WPA," said Mr. DuBois, "but a citizen is entitled to work and should be restored his rights."

Judge Culliton suggested to Mr. DuBois that he reduce his proposed resolution to writing so that it could be filed with the secretary and offered later in the convention. To this Mr. DuBois agreed and retired to an outer room to draft the proposed resolution which was later introduced and adopted by the convention.

Name Mrs. Schoonmaker

Mrs. Joseph Whitney of Zena placed the name of Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker of Woodstock in nomination for member of Congress from this district. Mrs. Schoonmaker had been named as a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Philip A. Goodwin of Coxsack, at a recent meeting of the congressional committee of this district.

Mrs. Whitney said that Mrs. Schoonmaker had "what was known as it."

"When people meet, Mrs. Schoonmaker," she said, "the 'it' fairly oozes out and they like her." Mrs. Whitney recalled the days when she took an active part in the campaign for woman's suffrage and that Mrs. Schoonmaker had also been active in that campaign. She said that her candidate was a woman who believed in peace and if elected to Congress would use every effort to keep the country out of war.

"My candidate has the brains of a man and the heart of a woman," said Mrs. Whitney as she named Mrs. Schoonmaker.

Liked to Fight

Mrs. Schoonmaker said she liked nothing better than a good fight and she realized that in accepting the nomination she had one on her hands, but she pledged herself to make the best run she was capable of. She recalled the days of 1917 when she was one of the "old war horses" who went up and down the land fighting for woman's suffrage.

Walsh Interrupts

As she sat down amid applause Mr. Walsh, a delegate from the town of Rosendale, popped up in his seat and said he wanted to be extended the privilege of the floor for a minute.

Judge Culliton ruled him out of order, and cries of "Sit down" were heard from all parts of the hall.

Mr. Walsh was not daunted and elevating his voice above the shouts he said he wanted to explain why some of those present in the meeting "would not work for the election of the dear little lady who had just been nominated."

His voice was finally lost in the calls to "sit down" and he finally resumed his seat for the time being.

Miller Is Named

Ross Osterhoudt, of Stone Ridge, placed the name of John J. Miller, of Lomontville, before the convention as the candidate for member of assembly. "He is a man who has never had things easy in life," said Mr. Osterhoudt, "but a man who has had to struggle for what he has today."

Mr. Osterhoudt said that Mr. Miller was familiar with the needs of Ulster county and its people.

"Too Many Lawyers"

"With all due deference to you Judge Culliton, I believe we have got too damn many lawyers up in Albany and it is time that some of the farmers were given an opportunity to represent the people."

A Farmer Is Needed

Mr. Miller in accepting the nomination said that agriculture was the largest business in Ulster county and it should have representation in the halls of legislature in Albany. He said that only a few weeks ago the milk question was up in Albany, and "we had a man voting in Albany who knew nothing at all about the milk question."

Nash Is Named.

Willis G. Nash of the town of Marbletown was named as the Democratic candidate for delegate to the state constitutional convention from Ulster county. In accepting the nomination Mr. Nash said he was "farm-minded" and that the farmer should be represented in that convention and that was the reason why he accepted the nomination.

Picked a Republican.

For the office of coroner the Democratic convention picked a man who has long been active as a Republican. His name was placed before the convention by alderman Joseph Epstein who said that in James M. Murphy of 176 Broadway, this city, the convention would be presenting to the voters of Ulster county a man who was capable of filling that office.

Murphy Absent.

Judge Culliton explained to the delegates that Mr. Murphy was unavoidably detained from attending the convention owing to press of duties.

The convention then adjourned with Mr. Walsh of Rosendale trying to make a speech, but he could not be heard above the noise of the delegates leaving the convention hall.

100,000 VICTIMS OF DROUTH NOW NOMADS

25,000 Farms in the Great Plains Abandoned.

Washington, D. C.—More than 25,000 deserted farm homes dotting the Great Plains are reminders of drouth years which made nomads of more than 100,000 Americans.

The Department of Agriculture estimated that at least 100,000 persons have moved out of the Middle West in the last year. Most of them packed their few personal belongings and headed westward.

Three crop failures had impoverished them. Lands among the most fertile in the world had suddenly become barren because of lack of water. Cattle died of starvation and thirst. Crops withered under a burning sun.

Most of these families packed their household goods on trucks, old motor cars and a few into covered wagons. Few of them had more than $100 in cash. Many had nothing. All had hopes of making new homes in the West.

Called Last Migration.

The resettlement administration described the exodus as "probably the last great migration of settlers to the far West." Western highways, it said, were "choked with cars, trucks and trailers carrying thousands of farm families with all their worldly goods."

The exodus began after the 1934 drouth. Many counties lost half of their population. Most of those who moved were farm owners and tenants. Despite federal efforts to check the westward drift, the resettlement administration said "the end of the migration is not yet in sight."

These families, mostly too poor to buy farm equipment and start anew in the northwestern states of Oregon and Washington and in California, have become a serious problem to relief agencies.

"These new settlers, for the most part thrifty and hard-working farm families from the Middle West, found an altogether different farm west than did the early pioneers," a resettlement report said. "Free land was gone with the closing of all public lands to homestead entry. Good, developed farms were scarce."

Robbed by Agents.

"Unscrupulous real-estate agents were ready to rob them of their meager savings by selling them worthless farms in the vast cutover areas where firewood and water were their only assets. They found employers of cheap labor ready to exploit their destitution."

"Residence requirements made them ineligible to WPA assistance, and state relief laws in at least one state made railroad fare back to their devastated homes the only aid available."

"The small percentage of families with capital managed for the most part to locate on productive farms. Those with small savings were forced to locate on once-abandoned farms in the cheap land areas, doomed to failure before they began."

Of the problem created by the migration of these families the report said:

"It is not a state problem but definitely a part of the national drouth problem that has migrated to the Pacific Northwest and to California, and should be considered as such."

"They cannot be returned to the states of their origin. Yet, they cannot become permanent indigents and transient agricultural workers supported most of the year by the state or federal government."

Use of Words In, Into, In, To

Broadly speaking, In denotes rest; into, motion. William knelt in the long grass; Herbert went into the house. But the two words should be written separately where their meaning is separate. The Smiths have moved into their new house; we all walked to the village hall, where we went in to hear the concert. Similarly with on and on to. Ethel danced on the table; Henry jumped on to the seat.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Free Diphtheria Clinic Tuesday

Dr. L. E. Sanford, city health officer, stated today that another in the series of free diphtheria clinics, would be held Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock at the city hall. Parents who desire to have their children immunized from the disease should bring them to the clinic at that time.

Since free clinics have been held in the city the disease has been practically wiped out.

Without Clues in Slaying.

Liberty, N. Y., August 2 (AP)—State police continued without clues today their investigation of the slaying of a tattooed New York city man who was twice arrested on homicide charges. The victim, whose trussed-up body was found floating in nearby Swan Lake Saturday, was identified by fingerprints on file in New York as Walter Sage, 32.

Library Fair Results Known

Woodstock, Aug. 1.—Final results from the library fair table are now known, and prove that this year as in the past, the most profitable and popular are the women's clothing, the books and the tea tables.

Total results are as follows:

CAFETERIA SUPPER AND COMMUNITY SING

Tomorrow, August 3, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Ulster Park Reformed Church will have its cafeteria supper and community sing, rain or shine. It will be held outside on the lawn of the community hall if the weather permits. Supper will be served about 5:30 until 7 o'clock. The community sing will follow about dusk. A pleasant evening is promised to all.

Marysville, Calif.—Public library is one of the few where smoking is permitted. A room where men may enjoy their tobacco was set aside at the request of John Quackenbos Packard, pioneer merchant, who presented the building.

Rome (AP).—An airplane wing flexible like the wing of a bird and patented five years ago in Washington, is being given a tryout by the Italian air force.

Ugo Antonio, inventor of the flexible wing idea and an invention consisting of an automatically flexible section of the wing which varies its curvature according to the speed of the plane and acts as a stabilizer.

Antonio's plane was given a tryout some years ago in England. It gave excellent performance until one day when it was wrecked. Since then he has refined his plans.

He says the plane will rise 3,000 feet in seven minutes, 6,000 feet in 15 minutes, can change its velocity from 300 to 100 m.p.m. in six seconds by varying the curvature of the wing, can land practically within its own length and can rise almost vertically.

Antonio has been working on his various aeronautical inventions since 1907, when he obtained his first patent in Germany. He is a keen student of the principles of bird flight.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hoover Was Right

Marysville, Ky.—Eugene Merz wrote a letter to former President Herbert Hoover and enclosed a newspaper clipping about grass growing in a Marysville street.

He recalled, he said, hearing Hoover predict during the campaign that would happen.

Today he showed friends a letter. It read:

"Dear Mr. Merz: That was very important news which you sent me. I am obliged for it. (Signed) Herbert Hoover."

Tobacco-Jess Road

Quitman, Ga.—There is, said Walter C. Perkins, Georgia's assistant agriculture commissioner, a definite relationship between pavements and the nation's chewing habits.

He said a tobacco salesman blamed the increase of concrete streets and sidewalks for the decrease in chewing tobacco sales. "Folk get their real pleasure spitting in the dust," the salesman declared.

Pay Way To Jail

Spartanburg, S. C.—Lawbreakers henceforth will have to pay taxi fare to jail.

City authorities added 75 cents for transportation to the fee of each person convicted in police court. Receipts will be put into a fund for maintenance of police motor equipment.

Nice Horse!

Condon, Ore.—The main problem seems to be how to get the horse to stand still—and to arrange for the lighting.

Anyhow, John F. Crane, rancher, says a good jolt of lightning can cure deafness in horses at least. An old horse of his, he said, was floored by a heavy bolt and struggled to his feet able to hear as well as a colt.

Los Angeles—"Never," said James Joseph Padalewsky, released after three days in jail—"Never again do I want to see a policeman."

An hour later he was on the phone.

"Send the cops quick. I've been robbed."

A radio and $37 had been pilfered from Padalewsky's home while he was in jail. He had been held while friends gathered evidence to exonerate him of throwing a brick through a window.

Garraghan Has Declined Office

Ray W. Garraghan of Manor avenue, who on Saturday received the Democratic nomination for county treasurer, informed a Freeman reporter at the close of the convention that he had declined the nomination of alderman of the Second ward.

"Are you going to run for two offices this fall, Mr. Garraghan?" asked The Freeman reporter.

"Why, no," replied Mr. Garraghan.

"But you were named for alderman of the Second ward at the Democratic caucus held in that ward last Tuesday," said the reporter.

"I know it," replied Mr. Gar-

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

Decline Mostly of Seasonal Nature

A review of the past week indicates that further recession in trade and industry was mostly of the seasonal nature. That is true for instance of the decline in motor car output; at the same time retail sales are being fairly well sustained and predictions are that there will be large production of new models in the near future. As to the steel industry opinion is divided. The belief is expressed that the drop in orders has reached its low, but it is admitted that the present outlook for building construction is only mildly encouraging, and the few railroad orders recently placed are overshadowed by the threat that railroad earnings may quite possibly be cut in to the tune of around $200,000,000 a year when wage demands are settled.

Wholesale and retail demand for consumables is ahead of 1935, but not by as large a margin as last spring. Prices for wheat, corn and cotton declined last week. The weather has continued favorable and earlier predictions of bumper crops have been confirmed; the result is increased selling pressure while buyers are inclined to hold off. Farm prices are seen as fairly near adjustment to the season's supply and at present levels would indicate that there must be some revision of the predictions made as to farm buying power for the coming year, although the farm position will still be better than it was the past year.

The quarterly earnings statements of leading steel and motor companies, issued the past week, have demonstrated clearly the unfortunate effect upon business activity of the labor dispute. Not only earnings of the corporations, but pay-rolls of employees have been seriously affected and it is assumed that the lesson that has been given has not been entirely lost upon labor leaders and the employees of the various companies who have suffered from loss of wages.

Speaking of the labor situation one commentator says: "Today competition between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. is so intense that the more successful of these groups has recently felt public opinion reacting powerfully in opposition to some of its methods and it is satisfactory to record that reaction of hostile public opinion directs itself not only toward labor organizations and their heads but even more pertinently towards makers and administrators of our mass of ill-considered labor legislation. The glaring defects of the Wagner Act are at last receiving serious attention in Congress. It may even be surmised that the country's experience under the Wagner Act has had much to do with the caution with which the national law makers have proceeded with the Administration's wages-and-hours bill."

Among recent quarterly earnings reports are: Commonwealth Edison, $2.02 a share for the quarter compared with $1.28 a year ago. American Cyanamid, 59 cents a share, vs. 38 cents. Five of the largest life insurance companies are concluding arrangements for direct purchases of a $50,000,000 debenture issue to be offered by an industrial company.

24 KILLED IN N. Y.

At least 24 persons were killed in upstate New York accidents over the week-end, four of them in a single automobile crash near Rome.

Sixteen died in automobile accidents, five drowned, one was killed by a railroad train, another hit by lightning and one died of injuries received when buried in a sewer shaft.

Four men were killed and two others critically injured when their automobile hurtled off a highway at the famed Stanwix curve, already earmarked for elimination as a highway danger point.

Victims included: Newburgh—William B. Holt, 42, and Leon Willis, 21, both of Seaford, Del., died when their truck burst into flames after crashing into a tree; Janet Skinner, 4, of Hartford, Conn., struck by an automobile.

New Paltz—Adolph Lazarus, 45, of Masspeh, L. I., drowned in the Walkill river.

Chief Jesse E. Babcock, rounding out 23 years on the Ilion police force, believes traffic violations and parking congestion have become as important problem as crime.

The cost of the social festivities in connection with the convention is being sponsored by the UPA stores with the cooperation of the national packers and manufacturers and the city and its industries have not been asked to contribute any funds to make the convention a success. All that the UPA stores are asking is that every citizen of the city appoint themselves as a reception committee to make the delegates to the convention feel at home. The delegates have been instructed to ask any policeman, fireman or citizen for any information desired.

FINSLER'S COMET VISIBLE TO U. S. ASTRONOMERS.

Chicago, August 2 (AP)—Telescopes all over the United States were trained today on a streaking bit of glowing light near the Pole Star as Finser's comet—discovered a year and a month ago—whirled through its third night of visibility.

But the celestial show was not for the savants alone. With the naked eye, Prof. George A. Van Biesbroeck of Yerkes Observatory said, the amateur astronomer may see the comet as "a medium-sized star" tearing through space at an estimated speed of 20 to 30 miles per second.

And out on the rooftops, where the street lights won't interfere with observation, the rank amateur with ordinary opera glasses can see the comet in full glory—tail and all. Although the late, Prof. Van Biesbroeck said, is smaller than that of other well-known comets like Halley's, Knucke's and Ryves', the cheapest magnifiers will reveal the sparkling particles thrust out from the main body of flaming matter by pressure generated by the sun.

The amateur Joseph Long enough, Prof. Van Biesbroeck said, he can see the comet move "hour by hour" across the sky on a trail the astronomer have charted with corroborated accuracy.

MISSING CAIRO MAN

IS FOUND TODAY

Vincent Spizucco of Cairo, whose disappearance Thursday night had been reported to the sheriff's office Sunday, was picked up in Woodstock this noon by Trooper Kinko and Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth and on the advice of Dr. Rassow was brought to the Kingston Hospital for treatment.

The officers went to Woodstock in answer to a call from that place stating that a stranger was acting in a peculiar manner. They found that the man was Spizucco, who had suffered from some kind of an attack while on the street.

According to word sent by his brother, John Spizucco of Cairo, Vincent, who had been suffering from a nervous breakdown, had gone to Kingston on the bus Thursday. He had checked in at the Y. M. C. A., but had left there about 9 o'clock that night and no word had been heard from him since that time.

A glimpse of the practical nature of the work being done by Home and Community Service committees in Granges all over the United States is found in the fact that these groups are very widely sponsoring home nursing associations and the maintenance of district nurses, whose service to rural communities is almost beyond price. In many instances the nursing service thus brought in through the Grange is the first the locality has ever enjoyed, though long sorely needed.

Japanese Planes Bomb Nankou

disrupted all normal rail service throughout Hopsh province. Scheduled trains were almost completely north of the border of Shantung province.

Tientsin, Japanese army headquarters 60 miles southeast of Peiping, was quiet but tense. The Japanese tightened their grip on the city as a result of reports that Chinese airplanes in great numbers had been scouting the Tientsin area. Japanese authorities claimed that the Chinese mint had been converted into an arsenal and filled with rifles and explosives.

The Soviet consulate-general at Tientsin was invaded and wrecked by White Russians. Soviet sources charged Japanese plain clothes operatives aided in the raid during which many of the consular records were carried off. Japanese denied they had participated.

The Russian report said that the raiders, armed with rifles and machine guns, broke down the consulate's doors while Japanese troops halted traffic in the vicinity.

Peiping was like a trap whose gates open only inward. Refugees from the battle-scarred area permitted to enter but no one was allowed to leave.

Name New Commanders.

Tokyo, August 2 (AP)—After an urgent conference with Premier Fumimaro Konoye, Emperor Hirohito approved today sweeping changes in the Japanese army in what was believed preparation for extended warfare with China.

Four new divisional commanders and a new commander for the former Chinese Island of Formosa were named by the emperor. All except one have extensive experience in China, indicating the four divisions may be preparing for embarkation to the North China war zone.

Lt. Gen. Wathido Sonobe, called the "devil general" by the Chinese because of his exploits in Manchoukuo, was named to command the Seventh Division; Lt. Gen. Kesago Nakajima was given the 16th Division; Lt. Gen. Susunori Fujita, of the 1st Division; Lt. Gen. Marquis Toshinai Maeda, of the Eighth Division, and Lt. Gen. Motoo Furusho was made commander of the Formosan garrison. The army changes involved 2,500 promotions and 3,400 transfers. There were only 50 officers placed on the retirement list in view of the serious North China situation.

The conference between Prince Konoye and the emperor was understood to have been on measures to offset the continuing massing of troops of the Chinese Central government in the north.

Five New Divisions

Japan was disclosed to have already moved five new divisions into Manchoukuo to meet what it declares is the threat of a quarter of a million troops mobilized by China. Three of the Japanese Divisions were sent from the island empire while the other two were from Japan's large army already on the mainland in Manchoukuo and Korea.

Japanese Nationals were being evacuated from widely separated sections of China. Five hundred Japanese women and children were placed under the protection of the Japanese navy at Tsingtao after being evacuated from Tsinanfu, inland capital of Shantung Province.

Abie-bodies Japanese males, 1,000 strong, remained at Tsinanfu. The Japanese community at Chungking was being evacuated down the middle fork of the Yangtze river to Hankow where women and children and the old were being moved out as fast as transportation was available.

Officials indicated the empire was preparing for a prolonged conflict as efforts were made to push through a 400,000,000 yen (about $115,000,000) appropriation for operations in North China. Of this, 300,000,000 yen (about $85,000,000) was earmarked for the army.

Two Held in $5,000 Bail Each by Judge

John B. Miller and Mrs. Elizabeth F. Oats held at the Ulster county jail since the shooting of Charles Ferro, under charges of assault in the first degree, were brought before County Judge Frederick C. Traver for a hearing at 10 o'clock this morning. They were represented by former corporation counsel Matthew V. Cahill and at his request Judge Traver adjourned the hearing until Friday morning, August 6, at 10 o'clock. Pending the adjourned hearing Judge Traver fixed bail at $5,000 in the case of each defendant. Bernhardt S. Kramer represented the District Attorney's office at the hearing.

The shooting of Ferro occurred at the home of Mrs. Oats in Zena about 12:30 Friday morning. It is alleged that Ferro drove up to the Oats home and insisted on seeing Miller, who according to a story told by Mrs. Oats had been stopping at her house for the preceding 10 days. Miller is charged with having fired a shot from a 12 gauge shot gun inflicting a serious wound in Ferro's leg below the knee. Ferro is still at the Kingston Hospital, where his condition this noon was reported as slightly improved.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging figure of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomfort from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood, 2. Preparing for motherhood, 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

Miss Georgia Herrick Leads August Brides

The first of the August weddings occurred on Sunday when Miss Georgia Katherine Herrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Herrick of Lucas avenue became the bride of Ralph Eltinge Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer of New Paltz.

The wedding was performed in the Fair Street Reformed Church, the Rev. F. B. Seeley, D. D. officiating. The bridal party stood before an altar decorated with garden flowers, banked with palm trees.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon, designed along princess lines. Her half veil was of net. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley, and baby's breath, with white satin streamers. In keeping with the custom, the bride wore a necklace that has been handed down from generation to generation through her father's family.

The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Conklin of Peekskill, wore a gown of maize net with matching accessories, and a maize turban with a nose veil. Her old-fashioned bouquet was of tea roses.

Ernest Palmer of Yonkers was best man for his brother. The ushers were William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge and George Bick of Long Island.

A reception, which was attended by the immediate family and intimate friends, was held at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

After an extensive wedding trip through Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will make their home in Bloomington Terrace.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1936. Mr. Palmer is a graduate of New Paltz Normal School, class of 1936 and at present is teaching at St. Remy.

SAYS KINGSTON POLICE ARE STRIKE BREAKING

14 Staples St., Kingston, N. Y. July 31, 1937.

Dear Editor:

One day last week while driving past East Kingston and Glasco, I counted about 50 policemen stationed around the striking brickyard. I found out that these towns have no police force of their own, and that at least part of the officers were from our Kingston force. At Glasco, the town constable with his stick ready for attack, and several police, were at the company gates to prevent union organizers from entering. Some of us are puzzled and would be very interested in knowing why the Kingston police are strikebreakers at the brickyard? Mayor Hesselman doesn't seem to be fulfilling his campaign promise to befriend labor.

Yours truly,

ELIZABETH GREEN.

One of the features is the free act, the showman said, which goes on nightly at 11 o'clock, starring four "queens of the air" in a death defying aerial stunt performed 125 feet in the air without a net. "The Four Queens"

SPONSORED BY THE EXCELSIOR HOSE CO.

The Moss Feature Syndicate,
Greensboro, N. C.

Socialist Father—What do you mean by playing truant? What makes you stay away from school?
Son—Class hatred, father.

Difficult situations not only test character but develop it, and development of character is all important. Life's problems are given us for a purpose. They may not seem desirable at the time. But they furnish us with the true test of manhood.

Wife—I heard the collector
call you a cheap four-furher, when you didn't pay the instalment on the new chair.
Hubby—Yeah, but I made him
take it back!
Wife—The insult?
Hubby—No, the chair.

When we were a youngster,
meals were always opened with a blessing. These days all that is required is a can opener.

Madge—Don't you sailors have a special ship where you get your hair cut? A sort of floating barber shop?
Sal—No, there ain't no such ship in our fleet.

Madge—Then what about the clipper ships I have heard so much about?
The True Perspective
Did you ever lie in summer on the grass and watch the sky?
Did you ever watch the foamy bil-lows of the clouds go sailing by?
Did you feel the earth beneath you? Did you look to left or right?
And watch the shadows lengthen
as the day turned into night?
Did you stop to wonder why
You ever felt important? Sure you did—and so have I!

Elam—Yes, sir, Zeke, as sure as I sit here now, I abot that double-barrel in that flock of ducks and I brung down five of them.

Zeke (unconcerned)—Didn't
I ever tell you about hunting frogs the other night, fired at one, then 500 croaked.

If you want to know the difference between knocking and constructive criticism, find out whether the critic is in the habit of standing back and finding fault with those who are trying to do something, or whether he takes a hand in trying to better things himself.

Chemistry Professor—Jones,
what does HNO3 signify?
Cadet Jones—Well, ah, er—I've got it right on the tip of my tongue, sir.

Chemistry Professor—Well,
you'd better spit it out. It's nitric acid.

Read it or not—Edgar A. Moss, Greensboro, North Carolina, has a hobby of collecting empty Coca Cola bottles from all over the country. The name of the city the bottle is from is blown into the bottom of each bottle. When sufficient bottles have been secured, Mr. Moss will erect a house composed entirely of Coca Cola bottles set in cement. Each bottle will be so placed so that the name of the city the bottle is from may be easily seen by visitors.

Sunday School Teacher—It is the duty of everyone to make at least one person happy during the week. Have you done so, Junior?
Junior (promptly)—Yes!
Sunday School Teacher—That's
nice. Now tell us what you did?
Junior—I went to see my aunt,
and she was happy when I went home.

"It can't happen here" used to be true but a glance at some of the things that have happened
the past year leads one to the conclusion that anything can happen here and does.

"Mother," cried little Junior, bursting into the house breathlessly, "there's going to be trouble down at the butcher's. His wife has got a baby girl, and he's had a 'Boy Wanted' sign in the window for over a week."

THE MASTER MIND—

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "The Singing Marine." Dick Powell becomes a tough leatherneck in the musical drama at the Broadway and he fights his way through the troubled waters of war and romance before the play's termination. Essentially a musical film, it also possesses a vague plot
plus much comedy and riotous action. Mr. Powell sings a group of stirring military songs and his supporting cast includes such names as Hugh Herbert, Lee Dixon, Doris Weston, Allen Jenkins, Doctor Rockwell and Jane Darwell. Warren and Dubin wrote the music. Bushby Berkeley directed the dance routines, and Ray Enright directed this Warner Brothers picture.

Kington: "Knight Without Armor" and "Blazing Sixes."
James Hilton's story of the Russian revolution and of a titled girl who is trapped in the terror of the peasant revolt and who escapes to the safety of the border through the aid of a young officer, is photographed and directed with unusual beauty of treatment in "Knight Without Armor," one of the best of the offerings to come from Alexander Korda's
London studios. The play stars
Marlene Dietrich and Robert Donat and the talented directing of Jacques Feyder is evident in every scene. "Blazing Sixes" is the other attraction with the singing cowboy, Dick Foran, in another tale of the winning of the west.

Orpheum: "Romance and Riches" and "Murder With Pictures." Mary Brian and Gary Grant are the featured players in the first attraction, a show self explained by its title. "Murder
With Pictures" is a wild and exciting murder mystery with a new angle of approach. A camera records a murder but it is impossible to determine the guilty party.
Paul Kelly, Gail Patrick, Lew

Ayers and Benny Baker head the players.

CRUSHED IN LANDSLIDE

Two Belmont, Mass., youths, Herbert Anderson, 18, and Chisely Elroy, 17, were crushed to death under tons of granite as the rim of a 10-foot rock ledge from which they were viewing the sea near Rockport, Mass., gave way. Above is shown one of the bodies being carried from the scene by rescuers. Six companions of the victims escaped.

Troopers Blame Drunken Driver For Auto Crash

A DeSoto sedan driven by John Murphy, 55, of 115-52-198th St. St. Albans, L. I., crashed head-on into a Chevrolet coach driven by Charles Reiner, 23, of 156 Kent street, and containing Mary Gonnard, 19, of 907 Manhattan avenue, Brooklyn, near the Lloyd Plaza gas station on route 9-W at West Park Saturday afternoon at 2:55 o'clock.

The three persons were brought to the Kingston Hospital where they were attended by Dr. Carl Meeklin of Highland. All of them are suffering from internal injuries and are out and built.

Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andy Klein of the New York State Troopers were patrolling 9-W just north of Highland when a motorist, coming from Kingston, halted them, and told of passing "a drunken driver" proceeding toward Kingston while he too was headed north. The motorist said he encountered difficulty in passing the car which was careening from one side of the road to the other, and that after he had passed he decided to turn around and hunt up the troopers before any accident occurred.

The troopers followed the motorist toward Kingston and arrived at West Park to find the wrecked cars and the injured people.

According to Trooper Klein, John Murphy was driving while intoxicated and was on the left hand side of the road proceeding north when he hit the Reiner car head-on.

Sergeant Hulse and Troopers Lynne Baker and Paul Senecal were also at the scene of the accident.

Trooper Andy Klein informed The Freeman this morning that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of John Murphy upon his

$37,752 Ulster's Motor Fuel Return

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—New York state cut today a $7,661,191.26 tax melon representing receipts from the motor fuel levy for the three-month period ending last June 30, sending $1,654,612.96 to the 57 upstate counties and $121,153.23 to New York city.

The state retains $5,555,725.07 in its general fund. Apportionment of the money by State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves to the upstate counties is on the basis of mileage of unimproved roads—$23.54 per mile—and New York city receives one-fourth of the receipts at the normal rates.

The distribution by counties. Cortland, $21,409.57; Dutchess, $22,071.23; Nassau, $43,160.16; Orange, $32,167.23; Putnam, $9,819.82; Rockland, $7,405.82; Sullivan, $10,020.19; Ulster, $17,752.34; and Westchester, $18,151.31.

Social Evening Marks Opening of Food Convention

The social festivities in connection with the 36th annual convention of the New York State Food Merchants Association opened auspiciously on Sunday evening when William J. Durr, president of the association, was tendered a reception in the municipal auditorium. The event was marked by music by Alderman Paul A. Zucca and his orchestra, and four excellent vaudeville acts in the floor show that was presented as a part of the entertainment feature of the evening. Brief addresses were delivered by President Durr and the welcome of the city was extended to President Durr and the delegates of the convention by Mayor C. J. Heiselman.

Mayor Heiselman, who spoke briefly, stated that Kingston was honored in entertaining the convention, and assured every delegate present of the hearty cooperation of both himself and every city official in making their stay in Kingston an enjoyable one.

A fine musical program was rendered by Alderman Zucca and his orchestra and then George Yetter of the National Biscuit Company, presiding as master of ceremonies introduced the various acts which were presented from the stage.

The program opened with Blanche and Elliott, a well known dancing team who have appeared in many recent movie productions. It was one of the best dance teams that has appeared in Kingston in years. Blackie, a harmonica soloist, who has been heard over the air many times, gave several harmonica selections, accompanied by the orchestra. He stopped over in Kingston enroute to England.

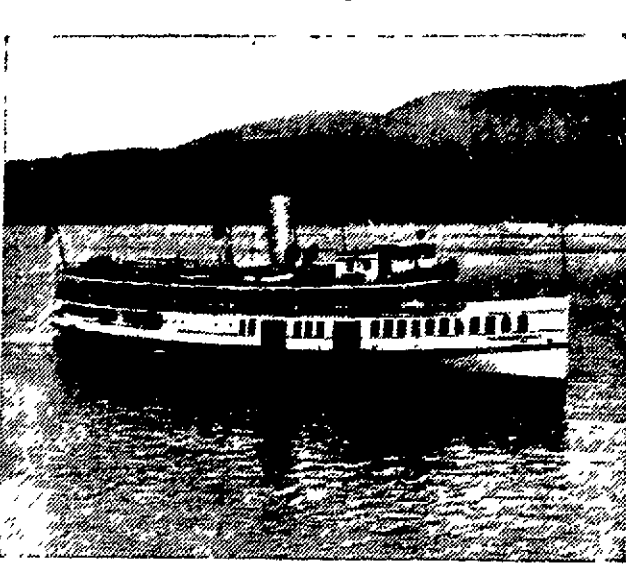

Eddy Mesa, of the Rio Rita company, gave an eccentric dance act that brought down the house, and he as well as the others on the program were forced to respond to encores.

The floor show closed with the five Ames sisters in a dance revue that was exceptionally good. The girls were not only good in the usual dance routines, but several of them were acrobatic dancers of high calibre.

Over 400 delegates to the convention and a similar number of friends gathered at the auditorium to pay their respects to President Durr and to enjoy the floor show.

Following the floor show the chairs were removed from the

DELEGATES TO ENJOY BOAT RIDE

S. S. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW

The local U. P. A. Stores, which are entertaining the delegates and guests of the New York State Food Merchants' 36th annual convention, have chartered the "S. S. Chauncey M. Depew," newest of the Hudson River Day Line fleet, for a Hudson River boat ride Tuesday evening.

The boat will dock about 7:30 Tuesday evening at Kingston Point. The trip will get under way at 8 o'clock, and will take the 700 delegates and friends down the river to within sight of West Point and return to the local pier about midnight. Buses will convey the guests from the boat to the hotels. Music, dancing and refreshments will be added to the scenic joys of the trip.

dance floor and dancing was enjoyed to the strains of Zucca's orchestra.

President Durr and the officers of the association and their wives were escorted to the stage and introduced. Clifford T. Bennett, president of the local UPA also was introduced and spoke briefly, and assured the delegates that they were heartily welcome and that the local convention committee had arranged for a full four days of enjoyment and entertainment.

Delegates to the convention began arriving Sunday morning and by evening it was reported that over 400 delegates had already registered and that number would be largely increased by this morning when the opening business session of the convention got underway in the Auditorium when Mayor Heiselman would extend the city's welcome to the convention.

CRUSHED IN LANDSLIDE

Two Belmont, Mass., youths, Herbert Anderson, 18, and Chisely Elroy, 17, were crushed to death under tons of granite as the rim of a 10-foot rock ledge from which they were viewing the sea near Rockport, Mass., gave way. Above is shown one of the boulders being carried from the scene by rescuers. Six companions of the victims escaped.

Troopers Blame Drunken Driver For Auto Crash

A DeSoto sedan driven by John Murphy, 55, of 115-52-198th St., St. Albans, L. I., crashed head-on into a Chevrolet coach driven by Charles Reimer, 23, of 176 Kent Street, and containing Mary Gonnard, 19, of 907 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, near the Lloyd Pass gas station on route 9 W at West Park Saturday afternoon at 2:55 o'clock.

The three persons were brought to the Kingston Hospital where they were attended by Dr. Carl Meeklin of Highland. All of them are suffering from internal injuries and are out and about.

Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andy Klein of the New Paltz detail of State Troopers were patrolling 9-W just north of Highland when a motorist, coming from Kingston, halted them, and told of passing "a drunken driver" proceeding toward Kingston who he too was headed north. The motorist still he encountered difficulty in passing the car which was careening from one side of the road to the other, and that after he had passed he decided to turn around and hunt up the troopers before any accident occurred.

The troopers followed the motorist toward Kingston and arrived at West Park to find the wrecked cars and the injured people.

According to Trooper Klein, John Murphy was driving while intoxicated and was on the left hand side of the road proceeding north when he hit the Reimer car head-on.

Sergeant Hulse and Troopers Le Baker and Paul General were also at the scene of the accident.

Trooper Andy Klein informed The Freeman this morning that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of John Murphy upon his

Social Evening Marks Opening of Food Convention

The social festivities in connection with the 36th annual convention of the New York State Food Merchants Association opened auspiciously on Sunday evening when William J. Durr, president of the association, was tendered a reception in the municipal auditorium. The event was marked by music by Alderman Paul A. Zucca and his orchestra, and four excellent vaudeville acts in the floor show that was presented as a part of the entertainment feature of the evening. Brief addresses were delivered by President Durr and the welcome of the city was extended to President Durr and the delegates of the convention by Mayor C. J. Heiselman.

Mayor Heiselman, who spoke briefly, stated that Kingston was honored in entertaining the convention, and assured every delegate present of the hearty co-operation of both himself and every city official in making their stay in Kingston an enjoyable one.

A fine musical program was rendered by Alderman Zucca and his orchestra, and then George Yetter of the National Biscuit Company, presiding as master of ceremonies introduced the various acts which were presented from the stage.

The program opened with a dancing team who have appeared in many recent movie productions. It was one of the best dance teams that has appeared in Kingston in years. Blackie, a harmonica soloist, who has been heard over the air many times, gave several harmonica selections, accompanied by the orchestra. He stopped over in Kingston enroute to England.

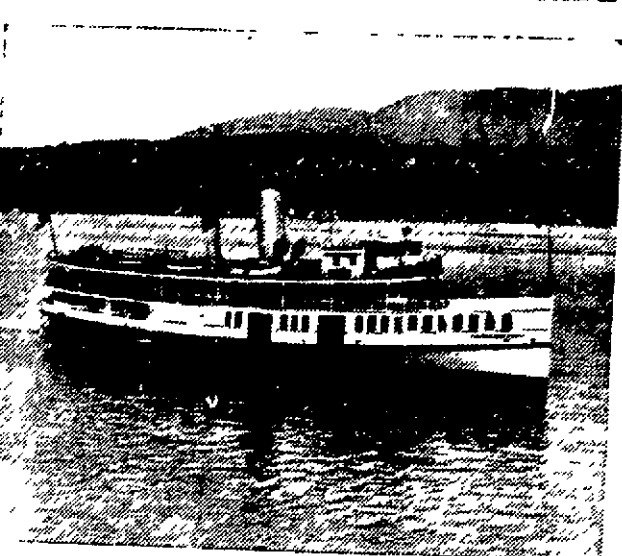

Teddy Mesa, of the Rio Rita company, gave an eccentric dance act that brought down the house, and he as well as the others on the program were forced to respond to cheers.

The floor show closed with the five Ames sisters in a dance revue that was exceptionally good. The girls were not only good in the usual dance routines, but several of them were acrobatic dancers of high calibre.

Over 400 delegates to the convention and a similar number of friends gathered at the auditorium to pay their respects to President Durr and to enjoy the floor show.

Following the floor show the chairs were removed from the

S. S. CHAUNCEY M. DEFEW

The local U. P. A. Stores, which are entertaining the delegates and guests of the New York State Food Merchants' 36th annual convention, have chartered the "S. S. Chauncey M. Defew," newest of the Hudson River Day Line fleet, for a Hudson River boat ride Tuesday evening.

The boat will dock about 7:30 Tuesday evening at Kingston Point. The trip will get under way at 8 o'clock, and will take the 700 delegates and friends down the river to within sight of West Point and return to the local pier about midnight. Busses will convey the guests from the boat to the hotels. Music, dancing and refreshments will be added to the scenic joys of the trip.

dance floor and dancing was enjoyed to the strains of Zucca's orchestra.

President Durr and the officers of the association and their wives were escorted to the stage and introduced. Clifford T. Bennett, president of the local UPA also was introduced and spoke briefly, and assured the delegates that they were heartily welcome and that the local convention committee had arranged for a full four days of enjoyment and entertainment.
